Open Web Experience Management (Open WEM)

“Create immersive digital content and campaigns, socialize them across multiple communities and channels, and deliver the ultimate experiences along the customer journey.”

Translation in the viewer's own language is all that is missing!!

It is impossible for the viewer to have a great Web Experience if they have to view the site in a language that is not their own?

70% of global web users spend their time visiting websites in their own language

The English language only accounts for 31% of all online
use and is in decline

Lingotek Translation Settings

The Lingotek Collaborative Translation module was developed by Lingotek to aid administrators of Drupal-created websites in getting their web content translated. The module integrates Lingotek's Collaborative Translation Platform directly into Drupal, so that your users can leverage the power of Lingotek's translation tools without ever having to leave the comfort of their Drupal environment.

Synchronization Method

- Never
- Always
- 100%

How do you want content on this site to be kept in sync with Lingotek? Do you want translations to be current and the latest (Always), or only downloaded from Lingotek when done (100%)? "Never" requires you to manually synchronize on the page's Lingotek tab by calling update.

Include source text in synchronization.

Enabled

This determines if the target languages will fill untranslated text with the source language or simply leave untranslated text out of the document.

Automatically Push Node Content to Lingotek

Disabled

When enabled, this node's content will be pushed to Lingotek when it is created and on every subsequent edit. If you choose not to enable automatic pushes, you can use the 'Push Content' button on this node's Lingotek tab to manually push the contents to Lingotek. (Note: only the content of the source node is pushed to Lingotek, not any existing translations. Also, existing translations will be overwritten when you pull a translation from Lingotek for a given language.)

Machine Translation Engine

Disabled

Choose an engine to automatically translate the content with. Warning: This will automatically synchronize the content as a manual update would from the Lingotek tab for the page.

URL Alias Translation

- Don't translate
- Translate the URL alias
- Use the translated page title

Choose how you would like to translate the URL alias. The last option requires that you install both the Title and the "Lingotek Translation" for the Title field.

The screenshot shows a Commerce Kickstart storefront with a Lingotek translation workbench overlay. The storefront header includes navigation links for Products, Orders, Content, Lingotek, Store settings, Site settings, Analytics, and Help, along with a user profile for 'admin'. The Lingotek workbench displays a document titled 'Exec Sum.docx' with a 0% completion rate and 787 words. It shows a side-by-side comparison of English and Spanish text. The English text includes the address '3400 North Ashton Blvd. #150 Point of Contact, Lehi, Utah 84043 Rob Vandenberg, CEO' and a link 'www.lingotek.com rob@lingotek.com'. The Spanish text is identical. Below the comparison is a 'Translation' section with a text input field for the current translation. At the bottom of the workbench are buttons for 'Copy Original Text', 'Revert Changes', 'Special Characters', 'Save and Next', and 'I'm done translating'. The storefront background shows a green bag product with an 'Add to cart' button and social media sharing options.
