Expert People & Collaboration

Regardless of how clever the technology is, professional-level translation requires highly skilled linguists and managers. The collaborative aspect of Lingotek's online platform brings together all the right experts – from anywhere in the world – to complete your translation.

Quality Linguist Selection Framework –

All translators and editors in the Lingotek database must be tested subject specialists and native speakers of the target language.

Experienced Managers – Our localization managers have many years of experience handling translation projects like yours. Our experts include a university professor of translation and an industry-recognized localization manager-of-the-year.

Online Collaboration – If your community includes in-country associates who have strong preferences about translation style and terminology, Lingotek's platform enables them to review and approve anything from initial glossaries to final translation output. The collaborative nature of the Lingotek platform provides your managers visibility to monitor project progress.

“Lingotek did an outstanding job on our project. They are extremely responsive and delivered ahead of schedule. We'll definitely use them again.”

Thomas Quist, Project Manager,
Synergy Worldwide

Proven Processes & Quality Controls

Lingotek's Collaborative Translation Platform™ not only enables online collaboration, but also ensures the right processes will be used for your translation project.

Custom Workflows – Your account manager and project manager select the right workflow for your project, flexibly adapting everything from setup to quality control for your specific needs.

Quality & Consistency at Every Level – The Lingotek platform automatically brings glossary matches and translation memory matches to the attention of translators and editors so your preferences are implemented consistently throughout every translation. Automatic lookup reduces the risk of any potential human error.

Award Winning Technology

Lingotek's Collaborative Translation Platform™ can be flexibly adapted to meet your particular needs because we built it.

Lingotek Inside Integration – Copying and pasting is a terribly cumbersome way to transfer large amounts of content into a translatable format. Lingotek's seamless integrations with various content management systems (CMSs) reduce the time, cost, and risk traditionally associated with translating large content volumes in CMSs.

Technical Preparation using Pseudo Localization – Proper preparation, known as internationalization, reduces the time, costs, and risks associated with traditional localization of websites and software. Lingotek's pseudo localization technology enables you to quickly test five key elements of internationalization with an auto-simulated translation. ■
